

Terms and Conditions – United States lunchtiming Consumers

lunchtiming is an app and website currently in development. We will use good faith efforts to protect your data, but as we are currently in the process of developing things, in return for the use of the lunchtiming app, you agree to waive any and all liability claims resulting from any inadvertent data breaches.

A more comprehensive set of Terms and Conditions will follow.